Celebrating South-Asian Dance & Culture

About Us

SJ Saiyaara is San Jose State University's inaugural Bollywood-fusion collegiate dance competition, a high-energy celebration of South Asian artistry, cultural identity, and community impact. Based in the heart of Silicon Valley, we bring together top-tier collegiate dance teams from across the country to compete, connect, and inspire.

Saiyaara, meaning "shooting star" in Hindi, captures exactly what this event represents: a brilliant, rising platform that empowers the next generation of South Asian performers and leaders on one of the most culturally rich campuses in California.

We are actively building our affiliation with the most established South Asian collegiate dance circuit in the country, dedicated to empowering South Asian artists and promoting performing arts nationwide.

Our Community & Reach

Our primary audience consists of college students, young professionals, and families.

We are a highly engaged and brand-aware demographic with strong purchasing power and deep cultural ties to the South Asian community. Our reach spans the Bay Area and nationally through competing universities and the collegiate dance network.

Social Media & Digital Presence

- Instagram & TikTok: @sjsaiyaara actively growing
- Targeted content reaching South Asian communities in the Bay Area & nationwide
- Professional photography and videography team for all event content
